STATEMENT

Ron Haddad, Jr., an inmate at the McHenry County Jail, has brought this pro se civil rights action presumably pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. The plaintiff's complaint stems from state court proceedings related to traffic citations he received in July 2008. The plaintiff claims that (1) an Oak Park police officer falsely arrested him; (2) a judge refused to consider his exculpatory evidence and committed other trial errors; and (3) the Cook County Sheriff denied him access to the courts by informing him that he was [wrongfully] barred from entering a Cook County courthouse because he was considered a security threat. By Minute Order of July 16, 2012, the court summarily dismissed the complaint on initial review pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B), Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1), and Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).

The plaintiff has filed a notice of appeal from the final judgment and seeks leave to proceed in forma pauperis. However, for the reasons stated in its dismissal order, the court finds that this action does not raise a substantial issue meriting appellate review. The court remains satisfied that principles of issue preclusion bar the plaintiff from relitigating the matters raised in his latest complaint and that his claims, in any event, are now time-barred. Accordingly, the court certifies, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3), that the appeal is not in good faith and that no appeal should be taken. When a suit is found to be frivolous, an ensuing appeal generally cannot be "in good faith" under § 1915(a)(3). Moran v. Sondalle, 218 F.3d 647, 650 (7th Cir. 2000).

STATEMENT (continued)

Under the rules of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, if the district court certifies that an appeal is not taken in good faith, the appellant cannot prosecute the appeal in forma pauperis but rather must pay the appellate fees in full for the appeal to go forward. Consequently, the plaintiff must pay the full $455 within fourteen days or the Court of Appeals may dismiss his appeal for want of prosecution. See Evans v. Illinois Dept. of Corrections, 150 F.3d 810, 812 (7th Cir. 1998). If the plaintiff wishes to contest this court's finding that the appeal is not taken in good faith, he must file a motion with the Court of Appeals seeking review of this court's certification within thirty days of service of this order. See Fed. R. App. P. 24(a)(5).

In sum, the plaintiff's motion for leave to appeal in forma pauperis is denied. The plaintiff is ordered to remit to the Clerk of the Court the $455 appellate fee within fourteen days of the date of this order. If the plaintiff fails to comply with this order, the Court of Appeals may dismiss his appeal. The plaintiff is responsible for ensuring payment of the filing fees as directed by this order, and should ensure that the institution having custody of him transmits the necessary funds. Nonpayment for any reason other than destitution shall be construed as a voluntary relinquishment of the right to file future suits in forma pauperis. The obligation to ensure full payment of the filing fees imposed by this order shall not be relieved by release or transfer to another prison. The plaintiff is under a continuing obligation to inform the Clerk of this Court in writing of any change of address within seven days.

Payment shall be sent to the Clerk, United States District Court, 219 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Illinois 60604, attn: Cashier's Desk, 20th Floor. Payment should clearly identify the plaintiff's name, as well as the district court and appellate court case numbers assigned to this action.

The clerk is directed to send a copy of this order to the PLRA Attorney, United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit.
